

1. COOKIES USED ON THIS WEBSITE

Following the guidelines of the American Data Protection Agency, we proceed to detail the use of cookies made by this website to inform you as accurately as possible.

This website uses the following third-party cookies:

Google Analytics: stores cookies to be able to compile statistics on traffic and the volume of visits to this website. By using this website, you consent to the processing of your information by Google. Therefore, the exercise of any right in this regard must be done by contacting Google directly.

Social networks: each social network uses its own cookies so that you can clic buttons such as Like or Share.

2. DEACTIVATION OR ELIMINATION OF COOKIES

At any time, you can exercise your right to deactivate or delete cookies from this website. These actions are performed differently depending on the browser you are using. Here is a quick guide to the most popular browsers.

This website is not responsible for the content or the veracity of the privacy policies that the third parties mentioned in this cookie policy may have.

Web browsers are the tools in charge of storing cookies and from this place you must exercise your right to eliminate or deactivate them. This website cannot guarantee the correct or incorrect handling of cookies by the aforementioned browsers.

In some cases, it is necessary to install cookies so that the browser does not forget its decision not to accept them.

In the case of Google Analytics cookies, this company stores cookies outside the European Union and undertakes not to share them with third parties, except in cases where it is necessary for the operation of the system when required by law. According to Google, it does not save your IP address. Google Inc. is a company adhering to the Safe Harbor Agreement that guarantees that all transferred data will be treated with a level of protection in accordance with European regulations.